

THE NEW YORK TIMES, FRIDAY, JULY 11, 2003

Galleries: SoHo

CHINA BLUE, "Architectural Therapy," Lance Fung, 537 Broadway, at Spring Street, (212) 334-6242 (through July 25). Ms. Blue bases her art on the ancient Chinese tradition of feng shui. Machines play the faint sounds of wind chimes and project a video of swimming goldfish to foster the circulation of career-enhancing energies. A revolving, light-reflecting disco ball may encourage the accumulation and distribution of wealth. And a potted tree in the bedroom — placed in front of a pink wall — is meant to improve erotic relationships (Johnson).